MERCY KILLING TOPIC FOR FIRST DEBATE OF YEAR

Parliament Society Of The University of California Are First Opponents

In a more or less lukewarm battle of words which was marked by good-natured insults and beautiful poetry, the fall debating season for 1936 was officially opened in the lounge last Tuesday evening when the Saint Mary's varsity team of Schuck and Stetson met the Misses Florence Hadlin and Helen Hendrich of the University of California.

The subject which was argued around beautifully for an hour and a half by both sides was, "Resolved: that the practice of euthanasia (mercy-killing) should be approved." Attracted by the presence of fair visitors and by the prospect of viewing the efforts of that inimitable comedian, Rodney Stetson, a near capacity crowd of students attended the debate.

After an introduction by Joe Alioto in which any fears the visitors might have had for their tresses were allayed, the blonde Miss Hadlin opened the argument for the affirmative with a definition of the question, which previously had been only vaguely mentioned.

History Is Given

Following her definition, the comely young representative of California's Parliament Society gave a brief history of the question, tracing it back to ancient Greece. The rest of her speech consisted of a highly emotional appeal for mercy-killing, based on the argument that both the pain of the victim and the suffering of his relatives would be ended with his death.

The beloved poet-medico of the campus, Rod Stetson, initiated the argument for the negative with a quotation from the oath of Hippocrates. Needless to say, he brought down the house.

Then countering in one brilliant statement the so-called attack of the affirmative with a mention of the effectiveness of "hypos" in eliminating pain, Stetson passed on to what was easily the high point of the evening.

Turning towards his fair opponents and flinging his arms wide, he burst out into the finest flow of lyric poetry heard around here in years, in which he suggested that the young ladies, or the young men and the young ladies (it was all rather vague), should walk "hand in hand down the years," finally reaching a point where they could "share life's caresses together."

"Alphabet Soup"

The fact that the whole thing was, according to Stetson, somehow bound up with the alphabet soup he might have had for dinner that night, only served to heighten the tremendous effect of his verse on the audience.

Seemingly nonplussed by the fervent proposal of Mr. Stetson, Miss

Widening of Highway Between Crossroads And Moraga Started

Representing the college at a meeting of the County Board of Supervisors, last week, Brother Vantasian requested the widening of the Moraga road leading to the cross roads.

Brother Vantasian stated that the road had been used by the college students for over eight years and that during this period only two accidents were reported. However, he added, "it was only by a miracle that there were not more accidents."

He pointed out the present condition of the road which was even more dangerous due to the added traffic and narrowness of the highway.

Mr. W. O. Barnes, representing the Moraga Company stated that his company would gladly assist the county in improving and widening the road.

At the conclusion of the meeting the County Supervisors assured Brother Vantasian that prompt action would be given and road work started immediately.

COOLBRITH POEM CONTEST OPEN TO STUDENTS

Rules Of Contest Announced To Public

Another opportunity for some Saint Mary's student to win a cash award has been offered by a recent letter from the University of Califorrnia, announcing the opening of the annual competition for the Ina Coolbrith Memorial Prize.

The prize, consisting of forty dollars, is awarded to the undergraduate submitting the best, original, unpublished poem on any subject.

An annual award is drawn from the fund established for the purpose by friends of the late Ina Coolbrith, former poet laureate of California.

The rules of the contest follow:

1. Stanford University, Mills College, Saint Mary's College, Santa Clara Univ., College of the Pacific, and the University of San Francisco are to be invited to cooperate in the contest.

2. The above colleges and universities are to open the contest to their undergraduate, and are to select from the contestants the three poems of highest merit. These eighteen (or fewer) poems are to bt sent to the Committee on Prizes

Pre-Meds To Visit Stockton Hospital

Embarking on its first trip of the semester the Pre-Medical Club will journey to Stockton tomorrow to visit the state hospital for the insane in that city. The club plans an all day trip under the direction of president Rodney Stetson.

During its visit to the insane hospital the club will be permitted to be present at demonstrations of psychoanalysis on various patients by Doctor Shreiber of the institution.

At the conclusion of the trip the club will meet in Oakland at the house of Doctor Campbell for a social evening.

The club plans to visit Saint Mary's Hospital in San Francisco in the near future where the older members of the organization will be permitted to view a major operation.

APGU To Sponsor Brother Leo Recital

APGU activity is definitely on the upswing according to the recent statement of Carl Schuck, president of the local honor society.

Schuck said that the program of activity would be opened very auspiciously by Brother Leo, who is slated to give a poetry recital in the lounge on the evening of Monday, November 2.

Plans for the performance of a one act play were discussed at the last meeting, and Schuck revealed that talent was available for dramatic undertakings.

CBS Will Broadcast Gael-Fordham Game

The Saint Mary's-Fordham football game will be broadcast over the CBS network by Ted Husing on October 24.

News was brought to the ex-council that this date had been set, but to this time, nothing definite has been given in regard to the Marquette-Saint Mary's game in Chicago.

Bill Smith, graduate manager, is trying to contact the radio heads there to put through the broadcast of that game. They expect the game to go over the air.

Gael Photography Contest Opens on Campus Monday

With the final announcement of prizes and rules, the GAEL photography contest will get underway the first of next week. The contest will continue over a six-week period, it was announced, giving contestants ample time to obtain their views.

Beginning on Monday, October 19, the photography will be continued until the Monday following the Santa Clara game. All students are eligible, and are urged to submit their shots to the photography editor, Lew Baysinger, or to Lawrence Mana, editor-in-chief.

Agfa Ansco Donate Prizes

Prizes have been donated for the contest through the courtesy of Mr. G. O. Hofmeister, Pacific Coast manager of the Agfa Ansco Company. Mr. Hofmeister, a graduate of Saint Mary's College, has shown much interest in the present contest, it is stated, and will cooperate with the Gael editors in this matter.

The prizes will be on display beginning next week, for an indefinite period. All who intend to enter the contest are urged to contact either the photography editor or Lawrence Mana, editor of the yearbook at once.

Larger Contest

"The contest," stated Baysinger, "will be of larger scope than any heretofore attempted. The prizes which have been donated by the Agfa Ansco Company are of more value, and are more numerous, than any that have been offered on this campus." Already many students have signified their intention of entering, he further stated.

The judges which have been selected are Mr. Hofmeister of the Agfa Ansco company, Brother Cornelius, head of the art department of the college, and Frank Colburn Jr. of the Coleman Studios in Oakland. All shots wil be submitted to this group for final judging.

Lawrence Mana, editor of the Gael, stated that the informal section of the 1937 publication will be larger than any in the past. A representative in the person of Lew Baysinger will cover all photography of the Fordham and Marquette games in the east, together with informal shots of the trip across the country.

"The editors feel that larger section will be of more interest to the students," stated Mana, "than certain other sections. Student life will be pictured from all angles."

No definite statements could be gained concerning the plan but advance information indicates an unusual and complete section.

Contest Rules

The rules governing the contest are as follows:

1. The contest opens on October 19 and will close on November 15.

K. C. To Sponsor Labor Discussion

Council Has Two Other Plans Under Advisement

In their weekly meeting to be held next Monday evening, the campus council of the Knights of Columbus will launch into a new progressive campaign, destined to make it the most active organization on the campus this semester.

The new program, consisting of three parts, was planned by the Catholic Activity Committee at a meeting held October 6 and will be submitted to the council for approval. The three projects are: a series of political lectures, a "community sing," and a scout troop at Moraga.

The lectures will be concerning the labor situation in California, and will be presented by both campus and off-campus speakers in the lounge. Arrangements are already under way to contact the lecturers. Each talk will be followed by an open forum.

The council intends to sponsor a song-fest for all members of the student body, to be held in the very near future in the lounge. Cooperation has been promised by the college glee club under the direction of Richard Vail, and the "Spirits of Rhythm," Junior class songsters, led by William Bourne.

For consideration also is the proposed formation of a Boy Scout troop at Moraga, the master and assistant master to be students of the college. It is reported that already one request has been filed for the position of scout master.

The members of the Catholic Activity Committee responsible for the proposed series of activities is composed of Bob Waters and Brother Bede Edward headed by Chairman Vic Wilkiemeyer.

Econ Library Moved To Dante Hall Room

Room 3 Dante Hall will henceforth be the shrine of economic documents. Because of ampleness of space, better lighting, and convenient location, it was chosen as the setting for the new Economics Library. Formerly the library was in Galileo Hall where space proved too meager for the rapidly increasing additions.

The library aside from containing magazines, pamphlets, and other periodicals of an economic interest, will be used as a seminar room for those in the field of economics or history.

All students are invited by the Economics Department to make use of the library, and it is expected that the room will prove popular to all.

Big Game Rally Set For Oakland

Oakland Auditorium To Be Site Of Santa Clara Rally

Defying a precedent of the last two years the Santa Clara Pre-Game Rally and Dance will be held off the campus. The Galloping Gaels and their rabid supporters will depart from Madigan Gym, the scene of former rallies, and will invade the less-limited confines of the Oakland Civic Auditorium, 12th and Fallon Streets, on Saturday evening, November 14.

Bill Simon

Bill Simon, chairman of the committee, reports: "In view of the fact that this year's pre-game tension will be the highest yet experienced between the two schools, we realize that the interest in the rally will be of like proportion.

"'Not being able to accomodate the public on the campus, the only logical solution is to go elsewhere. The Oakland Civic Auditorium has a large seating capacity, plentiful floor space, and because of its central location is an ideal spot."

A mammoth program has been outlined, and the event with regards to attendance will be the greatest in the annals of the college. Many noted outside speakers, as yet unnamed, in collaboration with local talent will furnish the evening's entertainment.

Outlined on the present entertainment program are active participation by the Glee Club and the Dramatic Club. The latter will present a farce, writen by a local author and student.

James McHugh will also introduce his own composition of a new Saint Mary's fight song. Joaquin Grill and his orchestra is the orchestra that is being considered to furnish music.

Contest Title Given To Oliver Contestants

A meeting of the Oliver Contest participants was held last Wednesday.

Brother Henry, contest director, explained the purpose of the contest and announced that the title of this year's competition will be "The Catholic Layman's Attitude Towards Catholic Action."

A meeting will be held in two weeks for the purpose of giving the contestants a more clear understanding of the contest subject, Brother Henry stated.

PRESIDENT POLL TO BE HANDLED BY COLLEGIAN

Lockers In Dante, Galileo Hall Used As Balloting Places

Opinion of the student body in regard to the current presidential campaign will be expressed today in the Collegian presidential poll being taken in conjunction with a nation-wide survey by The Daily Princetonian, student organ of Princeton University.

This will be the only poll taken on the campus prior to the election.

Ballot for the poll wil be found on this page. They must be deposited in lock room 161, Dante hall or locker 75, Galileo hall before three o'clock today.

Results of the poll wil be sent to The Daiy Princetonian where results from other colleges and universities throughout the nation will be tabulated. These results will be announced shortly before the election.

Other California colleges selected for the poll are: California, U. C. L. A., U. S. C., Stanford, Loyola and Occidental.

In order that the opinion expressed in the poll may truly represent campus sentiment, all students are urged to cast their vote.

Sullivan Contest Is Set for November 5

November 5 has been set as the date for the Saint Mary's tryouts in the Sullivan Memorial Award contest sponsored by the Ignation Council of the YMI.

A cash prize of fifty dollars is given to the winner of the contest held annually between Saint Mary's Santa Clara, U. S. F. and Loyola. Saint Mary's has emerged victorious in this oratorical contest only once in the last six years. The subject for this year's essay as announced by Professor Hagerty is to be "The Catholic Internationale."

In discussing the contest Professor Hagerty pleaded for more interest on the part of Saint Mary's students in this contest.

Tea Dance Proposed At Ex-Council Meet

News that the annual Saint Mary's-Fordham game would be broadcast succeeded in enlivening an otherwise ordinary session of the ex-council on last Wednesday.

An announcement by Baca, secretary of the body stated that the classic would be heard over station KFRC of the Columbia Broacsting System, with Ted Husing at the microphone.

Joe Alioto, student body president, mentioned the possibility of a tea dance being held with some local women's college. A committee was appointed and will give a report at the next session.

It was also moved that the ex-council write a letter of appreciation in behalf of the students to thank Loyola for their kindness and sportsmanship during the Saint Mary's stay in Los Angeles.

LARGE FOLLOWING GOES WITH TEAM ON TRIP EAST NEXT SUNDAY NIGHT

Fifteen Car Special Departs After Gael-Don Game On 17 Day Tour; Followers To Witness Three Grid Games While On Trip

By JAMES BRADY

On what should be the biggest of Slip Madigan's annual and unique tours, a fifteen-car Saint Mary's Special will depart Sunday after the "principal members" of the trip have engaged the San Francisco Dons on the gridiron.

The Gael footballers during their travels will figure in two major football contests and sit in on a third. Opponents Fordham and Marquette having been met, Ohio State and Notre Dame will be watched in what should be a great game.

DEPARTS

Departing Sunday night, Head Man Slip Madigan will head the largest and most extensive football tour in history into the East.

Max Podlech, Santa Fe head, announced yesterday that still more Gael rooters could be accomodated for the 17-day tour.

Depart at 6 p. m.

Under way at six o'clock, Sunday evening, the Gael Special will speed through the colorful Indian Southwest with its beautiful pine forests and continue the following day to Alva, Oklahoma, where the team will loosen up train-weary muscles on the state college gridiron.

Soldiers Field, Chicago, next will be trampled on by the representatives of Moraga. After a one day stay, the party will entrain for New York, will spend three and one-half hours on Thursday on a motor tour, and will continue observations on Friday.

Saturday will follow. Enough said. East versus West; Ram versus Gael.

After remaining in New York Sunday, the Slip Madigan tour inaugurates the real sightseeing part of the journey.

What A Trip!

Boston, Massachusetts, including its Bunker Hill, Navy Yard, Frigate Constitution, Lexington and Concord, route of Paul Revere and Harvard University will be inspected. Montreal is next. The historic Notre Dame Church and its 24,780 pound bell will be the highlight of sightseeing for the day.

Thence on to Quebec on Wednesday and a 22-mile pilgrimage te the Lourdes of America, St. Anne De Beaupre'. The members of Slip's tour will eb among hundreds of thousands of pilgrims that will visit the shrine in 1936.

Niagara Falls and its many vantage points will ocupy Thursday's program, Chicago to be reached on Friday morning. "Rubber-necking" throughout the day and an attempt to stem the Golden Avalanche in the evening.

The following day the meeting of the two teams that thrilled the nation last season will be witnessed, the Buckeye of Ohio State and the Irish of Slip's alma mater. Before

Contest Started To Select Theater Site

Attention students! Here is an opportunity to obtain some of that flush coin that is whispered to be in circulation.

The means: A contest, open to all students, to select the most suitable site for the newly proposed open air theater. Brother Albert, it is rumored, will donate a substantial prize to be awarded to the student who submits the best plan for the site.

Supporting the plan must be reasons which take into consideration the advantages of the selected spot.

Professor Hagerty will conduct the contest and the choice of the student, in written form, is to be submitted to him.

Foudy Leaves for East for Fordham-Gael Tilt

Acting as the advance agent for the Galloping Gaels, Tom Foudy, director of public relations, left for New York early yesterday morning. Foudy will handle all the advance publicity for the Fordham game and will arrange for the team's stay in New York.

Immediately after the conclusion of the Fordham contest, he will leave for Chicago where he will publicize the Marquette game.

Mrs. Bond Reports 115,000 Cases During Eight Years

Dropping in on a campus figure, who, perhaps, has had more to do with the students than any one else on this campus, the Collegian correspondent learned facts little known to the other residents of this college.

For the past eight years, Mrs. Bond, resident nurse, has had charge of the college infirmary, open twenty-four hours of the day. In that time, nearly 115,000 cases have been treated by her. An average of 15,000 students a year, up until the beginning of this semester, have passed through her department, the college infirmary. A little mathematical calculation will reveal that the average is about 40 a day.

Mrs. Bond came to Moraga soon after the College moved from Broadway in Oakland, and has continued to serve in her capacity as resident nurse since that time. Although those whom she has cared for have been ill, in varying degrees, Mrs. Bond herself has never lost a day on acount of illness, a record in itself.

Less Accidents

Commenting upon the hardiness and general health of this year's students, Mrs. Bond revealed that this semester has been her easiest. It not only has been quieter as a result of less sickness, but, it was stated, there have been less accidents as a result of football than at any other time during her service.

"This has been my best season so far," commented Mrs. Bond, "since there have been fewer illnesses and fewer injuries. I think that the students are learning to take better care of themselves, and to watch their health."

The worst "siege" that the infirmary has had, it was revealed, was in 1933, at which time 9 cases

President, Faculty Find Loyalty Torn By Grid Rivalry

Contrary to the rumor that the Alumni Association of the University of San Francisco has reserved a place in the U. S. F. rooting section at the game Sunday, Brother Albert this week denied any connection other than a purely honorary one with that University and stated that he would probably not attend the game.

"While it is true I received my LL. D. degree from the University of San Francisco, the rumor that the U. S. F. Alumni Association offered me a ticket on the south side of the stadium is without grounds," stated the president. "In fact," he continued, "I do not believe I will be on either side of the stadium—I don't believe I shall be able to attend the game."

Sits With Opposition

"It is a fact," he continued, "that I always sit among the opposition in Kezar Stadium. I have a seat in the press box which happens to be on the side of the stadium usually occupied by our opponents. However," the president further stated, "at the Santa Clara game I will support Saint Mary's on the same side of the field as the rooting section which will sit in the southern stands this year."

Doubtful Loyalty?

Further investigation on the subject by the Inquirer revealed that the campus teems with cases of doubtful loyalty. It was revealed

UNDEFEATED GALLOPING GAELS TANGLE WITH SAN FRANCISCO DONS, LEAVE FOR NEW YORK

Clash Sunday At Kezar Will Be Last Home Game Until After Fordham, Marquette Tilts

Three games played and all is well!

How far can this mysterious '36 Galloping Gael grid team extend its undefeated record? Can the Red and Blue warriors make it four straight?

Although the answer to the first question will not be known definitely, fans will know the answer to the second Sunday night, after the Gael has battled the University of San Francisco Don, the same Don who dared to cross the goal line of the Santa Clara Bronco.

Once again the odds—what nasty things—say that Saint Mary's will be victorious. But this is another game in which odds have little, if any, play. That San Francisco is capable of defeating Saint Mary's, no one denies.

Hold That Line

San Francisco can beat Saint Mary's one way—stop the charge of the powerful Gael line. What about the Gael aerial attack? Thus far it has been average. Maybe this is because scouts have attended every Gael game this season. But Slip Madigan may have to allow his charges to "shoot the works" via the aerial route, and, if U. S. F. is unable to cope with this air attack, the Dons are doomed.

But this is only supposition—IF the Gaels have a brilliant passing attack. So far they haven't shown it, and if they don't Sunday, even after being halted on the ground, chalk up an upset for San Francisco.

Can They Do It?

The question will be raised, "Can the Dons stop the Gaels on the ground?" This is not likely, unless the Gaels already are on board the train headed for New York, just as was the 1933 team which lost to Nevada.

The latter, too, is most unlikely. Nevada will serve as an example for a long, long time. Saint Mary's, paying straight football should win by three touchdowns and leave for New York with an unblemished record.

Zilch Picks Gaels

And Bears, Too

* * * *

Rumors Are True

SAINT MARY'S OVER U. S. F. This is going to take more than just a little effort on the part of the Gaels; more than they will willingly want to give on such an afternoon. (Do you remember when Nevada beat the Gaels? Yes, it was the day they were leaving for Fordham!) When the Gaels and Dons meet there is always trouble. As a team the Gaels are much stronger, but the circumstances in this case will have a lot to do with the outcome. It's ten on the Gaels

CALIFORNIA OVER U. C. L. A. This contest takes the aspect of being a big game on the coast this year. Two teams will be fighting their hearts out for supremacy in that one big institution. The winner of this contest will be the "big brother." Both teams appear to be on even terms, but the attitude of the Bear eleven leads me to believe they will rise to greater heights on Saturday. It's five on the Bears, but Bears beware.

U. S. C. OVER WASHINGTON STATE. It will take a better team than the Cougars to stop the Trojan next Saturday. The Cougar will slow the Trojan up a bit, but I don't think he'll get close enough to sink his claws into pay dirt. Five ironmen for El Trojan.

WASHINGTON OVER O. S. C. The Huskies showed that they were as strong as they are talked up to be when they dumped the Bruins last Saturday. With that sweet backfield combination and that heavy line, the Huskies will leave the field with another victory under their belts, and the Oregon State outfit will still be seeking their first conference win. Ten on a cinch for the Huskies.

SANTA CLARA OVER SAN JOSE STATE. This will be just another one of those things for the Broncos. The Staters reached their heights last week when they dumped College of Pacific, and I don't think they can reach their height again so soon. Santa Clara will not be doing their best, either, so the outcome ought to be interesting. Odds 2-1; bet five bucks.

MARQUETTE OVER KANSAS STATE. The Golden Avalanche is on its way to national supremacy and is not going to be outdone by Kansas State. The Staters show great prospects of causing trouble, however, as last week they battled to a standstill with Missouri, 7-7, but the touchdown experts, Art Guepe and Captain Buivid of the Marquette eleven, will prove too much for the Kansas aggregation. Bet four more on the Avalanche.

Austin Captain

Jim Austin, varsity flankman the last three years, will be acting captain of the Saint Mary's Gaels Sunday when they tangle with Spud Lewis' Dons at Kezar Stadium

An outstanding wingman, Austin hails from Hollywood and is playing his last season with the Gaels. He will be graduated next May.

2 Gaels Oppose Each Other — As Coaches

Two former Gaels oppose each other tomorrow—as coaches.

Jack Danilovich's undefeated Weed prepsters tangle with Carl Jorgensen's Mt. Shasta high eleven, also unbeaten, tomorrow afternoon in a big game at Weed.

Danilovich's squad has defeated Dunsmuir, 19 to 0; McCloud, 20 to 0, and Yreka, 38 to 0.

Danilovich played center for the Gallopers, while Jorgensen performed at guard.

U.S.F. Team "Must Win" Sunday

By JACK BRADY
(Sports Editor U. S. F. "Foghorn")

A desperate, reckless band of caballeros from the Hilltop will file into Kezar Stadium Sunday afternoon for the sole purpose of blasting any national championship aspirations which Slip Madigan and his cohorts may have.

For the Dons this is a 'do-or-die' game—another defeat means another unsuccessful season, while a victory over a team of Saint Mary's proportions means nation-wide recognition and renown. This thought is imbedded in the minds of every Don warrior, and their intentions are to fight their hearts out and throw caution to the winds in a final effort to gain the favor of the gridiron fans. The Green and Gold has everything to gain and nothing to lose.

Last Sunday's Bronco-busting has given the Lewismen a certain confidence which was lacking in early season games. The Santa Clarans, heralded as one of the greatest Notre Dame offensive teams since the original Four Horsemen, just did manage to eke out a victory, and had it not been for two blocked punts, a penalty, and a phoney pass play, the outcome might have ben different.

Defense Brilliant

The Dons defensive play was brilliant. For three and a half quarters the Bronco's offense was completely bottled up, the Dons once holding for four downs on the four yard line. It was not until the closing stages of the game that the Broncos were able to circle the ends or puncture the line for any sizeable gains.

On the other hand, the Dons offense was sadly lacking in efficiency. The highly touted passing attack could not be unleashed until the final minutes of play because of the numerous fumbles and blocked kicks kept their backs to the wall all through the game.

The Gaels will be faced with a different problem, however. The Hilltoppers of this week will be vastly different from the Dons of last week. THEY HAVE TO WIN THIS GAME! They have to pull all their tricks out of the bag; they have to put all their cards on the table. If they are the possessors of the highly touted passing attack, which all the critics attribute to them, they will have to put it on display this week. If they don't use it against the Maurauding Moragans they might just as well put

Two Gael All Americans?

OAKLAND TRIBUNE

Seldom are two All-American candidates snapped together in the early part of the season, but here an Oakland Tribune photographer snapped, consciously or unconsciously, two players from the same team who are All-American prospects. Here we see MARTY KORDICK and JERRY DENNERLEIN, guard and tackle, respectively, on the Galloping Gael varsity, All-American timber, who face the San Francisco Dons at Kezar Stadium on Sunday. They will oppose the Fordham Rams next Saturday. Here today, gone tomorrow!

Juniors Beat Freshmen To Capture Softball Loop Lead

Mid-Terms Force Cancellation Of Yesterday's Slated Contest

Freshmen	1	3	.250

Returning partially to their former stride, the Junior softball team defeated the Freshmen Tuesday, 11 to 6, in the only intramural game played this week.

Because of mid-term examinations, yesterday's scheduled tilt between the Seniors and Sophomores was cancelled. The game will be played at the end of the regular season, Intramural Manager Sam Miller announced.

A glaring upset could easily have been chalked up by the Freshmen had not their centerfielder, Jim Butler, and keystone protector, Lewis Shapiro, erred so frequently.

Juniors Again Strong

The Juniors, after their setback last week, have not entirely snapped out of their slump. However, it is expected they will be in top shape for their forthcoming encounter with Fissori and his Brigands.

McIntyre and Baysinger sparkled for the Terriers, while Lyons looked exceptionally good fanning the breeze. Little Jim Walsh covered two fields to aid the Junior cause immensely.

Floyd Maxham Is Lost To Moraga Backfield

Floyd Maxham, versatile Gael fullback, will be on the shelf for four weeks, because of an injury he sustained in the game with the Loyola Lions, the athletic office announced yesterday.

The injury, said to be a strained lumbar muscle, occured when Maxham pivoted around to elude a would-be tackler. Despite the injury, Maxham continued playing in the game, and did not complain of the soreness in his back until his return to the college on Tuesday. It was then that he was examined and found to have this severe spine injury.

UNDEFEATED FRESHMAN GRID TEAM TO MEET SALINAS J. C. TOMORROW ON RIVAL FIELD

Rumors Warn Yearlings To Expect Tough Tilt; Defense Is Good, Says Coach Jim Underhill

Resuming battle after a two-week layoff, the Saint Mary's babes leave tomorrow morning for the Salinas Junior College gridiron. Twenty-five men, including the coaches and managers, will make the 100-mile bus trip. They will return home Saturday night in order to be present at the varsity game Sunday.

The kickoff is set for 2:30 p. m.

Very little official dope concerning the Salinas team is known. But rumors have drifted to our campus to the effect that the Gaelets can expect one of their toughest games of the season tomorrow afternoon.

However, the frosh should have a good defense against the Jaysees, who employ the Notre Dame system of play, which is also used by the Gael yearlings. The frosh should be particularly strong because of the fact that they scrimmage against the high class material of the varsity at least twice a week.

Team Improves

With only two games behind them, the Gael babes have shown a world of improvement. They have kept up their early season pep and enthusiasm, and, as in the first of the season, the rivalry for the starting positions is very keen.

Sedar and Lucas are still battling it out for the left guard position. Magnani and Mathews have worked their way up as threats in the backfield. They will see a lot of action from now on. "Pinkey" Peterson has been changed from tackle to center, and as soon as he learns the plays for the new position, he will make his presence felt in the line.

Scotty MacPhail is pressing Bettencourt and Brusatti, two rugged players, for one of the end positions. All in all there is a world of material on this year's frosh squad. And from early season records, it looks as though Coach Jimmy Underhill is making the best of it. Aside from putting out a winning team, he has to teach about forty players a system of play that is entirely new to them.

Doing Task Well

He has a task, but he is doing well. He has developed Sinnot, who never barked a signal in his life until he entered Saint Mary's, into an excellent quarterback. He has Sims punting well out beyond the 50-yard marker. And he has Thomas, who has been ailing with an infected tooth, running and passing like a varsity halfback.

When asked about the game this Saturday, Coach Underhill said, "We will have a 'bang-up' defense. Scrimmaging against the varsity has put the fellows on their toes. We haven't had much time to work on our offense. We are still working on the fundamentals of the Rockne system."

the kickoff at two o'clock, there will be time to visit and inspect the University of Notre Dame's buildings and grounds.

Sunday and Monday will be spent flashing home, and the arrival, after the great plains of the middle west and the Indian country have been crossed, is scheduled for Tuesday. Seventeen days of educational sightseeing will have been completed.

Holders of a string of tickets on the Special have now only to hope for a Gael victory over U. S. F. Sunday, which, if accomplished, will somewhat boost the stock in their investment.

Baysinger, Zilch to Go To New York

Leaving Sunday night with Coach Slip Madigan, the Saint Mary's varsity and their followers are Lew Baysinger and Peter Zilch of The Collegian sports staff.

The two "sports staff stars" will cover the Gael doings for The Collegian. Old Uncle Zilch will airmail his predictions along with other "inside dope."

Baysinger, veteran Collegian scribe, will airmail, special delivery pre-game yarns for the two big clashes in addition to sending regular post-game accounts.

SAN FRANCISCO FAILS TO DEFEAT GAEL IN 11 TRIES

Saint Mary's and San Francisco varsity football teams will be facing each other for the eleventh time when the rivals clash on the turf of Kezar Stadium next Sunday afternoon.

GAEL GOSSIP

By BILL BETTENCOURT
(Sports Editor The Collegian)

Undefeated, untied, and hailed as one of the greatest football teams in the country this season, The Saint Mary's Galloping Gaels tackle the vicious San Francisco Dons Sunday at Kezar, departing immediately after the fracas for their two road games with the Fordham Rams and the Marquette Golden Avalanche.

Once again the Galloping Gael horde will be favored to win. But anything can happen in a football tilt, especially when the Dons and the Marauding Moragans tussle. Sunday's game promises not to be a tete-a-tet in the literal sense of the phrase.

Spud Lewis' grid teams always have been tough to beat, even in their leanest seasons. Slip Madigan and his charges realize this and are prepared. (They had better be.)

We don't think the Madiganers will be caught napping by Lewis' Hilltop gang, a grid clique which indeed would relish a triumph over Saint Mary's. From now until after they are safely on the Madigan Special enroute to the East Sunday night, the Gaels, physically and mentally, are opposing only one team, one squad that is capabe of tripping Saint Mary's into the long list of defeated elevens—San Francisco!

"ALL-'BOARD: MADIGAN SPECIAL LEAVING . . ."

Thousands of Red and Blue fans will be at the San Francisco ferry building after the U. S. F. game Sunday to see their team depart for the middle-west and east where they are billed to play two of the greatest collegiate pigskin aggregations in those two sections of the United States.

SLIP MADIGAN
Saint Mary's Coach

Saint Mary's will face not two AVERAGE teams but two GREAT squads, each of which is expected to be undefeated when it opposes our colorful Gaels.

It is our opinion that Marquette will give Saint Mary's a much tougher game than will Fordham. The Rams begin the toughest part of their schedule with the Saint Mary's game, meeting Pittsburgh, Purdue, Georgia and New York University on successive weekends.

Marquette pinned back the ears of Wisconsin, always a good team, 12-to-6, in the opener and rebuffed Saint Louis Saturday, 32-to-6. Frank Murray's outfit faces Kansas State and Michigan State, two powerful teams, during the next two Saturdays, meeting Saint Mary's on October 30.

If Saint Mary's beats these two teams on their trek, and comes back home to lick Idaho, Santa Clara, Pacific and Temple, Saint Mary's should be ranked as one of the best teams in the country.

Good luck, Galloping Gaels!

THOSE LOYOLA LIONS—THEY'RE GOOD

The popularity of Saint Mary's with Los Angeles fans is remarkable. If 60,000 fans paid to see the Gaels and the Lions clash on the day following a crucial Conference game, how many more would have attended had not an important P. C. C. tilt been played at the Coliseum on Saturday?

The popularity of Saint Mary's with Southern California fans is tremendous. Loyola and Saint Mary's could give Los Angeles one of the biggest annual games in that section of the state.

What do you think?

Fighting Loyola Lions Bow to Galloping Gaels

Inaugurating what promises to be an interesting athletic rivalry, Saint Mary's Galloping Gaels galloped to a 19 to 7 victory over the fumbling Lions of Loyola University Sunday in Los Angeles.

Scoring all their points in the second quarter, the Gaels gave the 60,000 fans who were in the Los Angeles Coliseum a brief demonstration of the ball-hawking and power that led to the decisive defeat of the highly touted Golden Bears the week before.

Built up as a high scoring machine by the Los Angeles press, the Gaels were unable to make any headway against the fighting Loyola line during the first quarter. As the quarter drew to a close, Byrne, the Loyola halfback, uncorked a long pass that was taken by Foley on the 25-yard marker of the Gaels.

After two ineffectual tries to gain through the Moragan's line, the Lions once more took to the air lanes and placed the ball on the three-yard line as the result of the Byrne to Foley combination. The play was completed as the quarter ended.

Long Gain Fumbles

On the first play of the second period, Colee, Loyola fullback, who had been sent in to the game to try and plunge through for a touchdown, fumbled, and the loose spheroid was recovered by Wally Garard, Gael center.

Standing behind his own goal line Maxham kicked out to the Saint Mary's 42-yard line, where Austin recovered a fumble by the Loyola safety man. After two line plays had failed to gain, Maxham went back to kick, and once more the Loyola safety man failed to handle the ball, Bill Wilkin recovering on the 26-yard mark of the southerners.

On four plays the Gaels had marched seventy-four yards and had displayed fumble snatching ability that gave scouts in the stands plenty about which to write home.

Groux Registers

From the 26 the Gaels moved into the end zone in three plays. Shock crashed tackle for 4 yards. Les Groux faked an end run and threw to Lou Ferry, who was finally dragged down on the eight. On the next play Groux went through a big hole provided by the hard charging Gael line and scored. Ferry missed the extra point.

On the kickoff Loyola fumbled once more and recovered on the twelve. Attempting to go over tackle, they were thrown for a two-yard loss. The Lions then sent a man back into punt formation, who instead attempted a flat pass that was intercepted by Lou Ferry, who galloped to a touchdown. Once more he missed the extra point.

Taking the ball on the Lion 44 after a punt, the Gaels put on a power drive that stood the fans in the aisles. Using no shift plays, Falkenstein and Groux drove to the one-yard line, from where Maxham bucked it over. Maxham's plunge was good for the extra point.

Lions Score One

In the second half the Gaels were content to rest on their laurels, while Loyola filled the air with passes in a desperate attempt to fill up the gap on the score board.

The Lions score came as the result of a punt that went out of bounds on the Gael 26 after Austin had intercepted a pass on tht Moraga one-yard line.

From the 26 the Lions moved up on a series of passes and put over a score in exactly six plays. The touchdown was scored by that pesky combination of Byrne to Foley,

FOUR GAEL FOES STILL UNDEFEATED

Although the football season already is one month old, four 1936 Saint Mary's opponents still are undefeated: the Fordham Rams, who clash with the Gaels next Saturday; Marquette, Santa Clara and Temple.

To the list of the dethroned after last weekend's games were added Loyola and San Francisco.

Odds are that the quartet will remain undefeated after this week's tussles. The Marquette Golden Avalanche probably faces the stiffest opponent, Kansas State, which tied Missouri Saturday, 7 to 7.

TEMPLE PLAYS TWO GAMES IN FIVE DAYS

Our old friend, Pop Warner, must have something on the ball. Otherwise, why should he be meeting Boston College and Carnegie Tech within the short period of five days? The Owls should trim Carnegie's Skibos, who have lost to Notre Dame and Michigan State. It looks as if the Fox will bring a classy squad to meet the Gaels next December.

Dons Tangle With Undefeated Gaels Sunday Afternoon

it on the shelf until next season. After Sunday it doesn't matter what they do.

Wide-Open Football

And the Dons can't wait for a favorable position to present itself. They have to pitch that ball from all corners of the lot—even from behind their own goal line. If they had opened up earlier in last week's fray, they would have caused the Shaw boys plenty of grief.

The Hilltoppers will undoubtedly open with the same men who started against the valley boys This means that Bedoni and Jackson will be the ends, Miatavich and Schwraz the tackles, Kelly and Shearing the guards, and Passinisi the center. Captain Joe Gerardin will open at quarter, Sal Seeno at fullback and Peterson and Swanson at the halves.

Three In Last Game

Of these men three will be playing their last game against the Gaels, Sab Passanisi, Joe Gerardin and Ray Peterson get their last crack at the Madiganmen, and they will give all they have to realize their three year hope. Among the reserves who are sure to see action there are several more seniors who will battle the Saint for the last time. These include Roy Burkhead, Vasco Pucci, Guy Swannack, Doug Hagens, Leo Leroy, Charlie Hale, Hank Del Baggio and Pete Wells.

The Dons should have a good many things in their favor for this game. In the first place they will be the underdogs, a position all coaches would like their teams to be in. In the second place they have no undefeated record to protect, as the Gaels have. The Gaels will have to be cautious while the Dons can AND WILL throw caution to the winds and begin pitching that pill from the opening whistle until the final gun. Added to that the Dons must remember that they have to win, or continue to be classed by the critics as second raters.

40,000 FANS MAY SEE SUNDAY'S GAME

"Freeze-out" Fails To Affect Gael Gate, Manager Bill Smith Declares

At least 30,000 fans will witness the Saint Mary's-San Francisco grid clash Sunday afternoon at Kezar, according to Graduate Manager William Smith.

That 40,000 may attend the clash was an opinion advanced by Smith. If such a crowd is realized, the Moraga Gaels will be away out in front of the nation's colleges in regards to attendance.

These figures show that the "freeze-out" move of the Pacific Coast Conference hasn't affected but has aided, the Gaels so far this season, Smith said.

Mal Fiese's Team Drops 16-0 Game

MERCY KILLING TOPIC FOR FIRST DEBATE OF YEAR

Parliament Society Of The University of California Are First Opponents

Hendrich concluded the argument for the affirmative with a plan for euthanasia in which a board of doctors and lawyers would pass on each case. Her speech ended with the expression that all public nuisances should be painlessly eliminated, because "after all, they're really of no use, and they're an awful nuisance anyway."

Carl Schuck, debate manager, then reiterated Stetson's argument concerning hypos, and questioned the right and ability of a human board to take life in a mercy-killing.

He wound up his speech with an appeal to the patriotism of his listeners, in which he cited the three rights of "life, liberty and pursuit of happiness."

In the rebuttal that followed the scope of the argument grew wider and wider, with all concerned taking the bit in their teeth and racing off in different directions. The spectators, who had been perplexed almost from the start of the debate, were further confused when St. Paul, Rabbi Fink, the King of Scotland, and a horse with a broken leg were all thrown together in a frantic effort to spell "euthanasia."

An open forum, in which four questions were asked and one was answered, was held after the debate. the questioners were Simon, Kirkham, Glackin, and Bourne, all Bills.

The affair was ended by mutual consent of all concerned.

Commission Reopens Santa Fe Bus Case

The State Railroad Commission will reopen hearing at San Francisco Wednesday, October 20, on the application of the Santa Fe Transportation company for an intrastate bus franchise.

The Santa Fe seeks to establish a point to point stage service in California between San Diego and San Francisco via Los Angeles and the San Joaquin Valley; Needles to Los Angeles and Bakersfield, via Barstow; Hanford to Porterville via Visalia, Exeter and Lindsay.

The original hearing set for October 15 was moved up one week by the Commission due to the filing by Pacific Greyhound Lines, Inc., of a notice of motion to dismiss the application. The motion will be argued before the Commission and if denied the case will continue.

Southern Pacific company, Pacific Greyhound Lines, Inc., Pacific Electric Railway Company, Motor Transit Company and Motor Carriers Association, are vigorously opposing the Santa Fe's application and contend the proposed service is not in the interest of public convenience and necessity.

Political Observers See New Pensions

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NWS)—While the American Legion Convention veered away from open reference to further pensions, political observers see a hint of additional benefits in the resolution that "In no event shall the widows and orphans of World War veterans be without government protection." Pensions, experts point out, always cost far more than bonuses. Last year Uncle Sam paid $47, 568,000 to three widows and a child of men who fought in the War of 1812, a century-and-aquarter ago; to 294 widows of Mexican War veterans, who were mustered out 89 years ago, and to 100,290 widows and children of Civil War soldiers. Only 355 veterans of the 900 survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic attended the 70th encampment here recently.

Saint Mary's Club

Meeting Thursday, October 22, has been set as the date of the next Club meeting. Again we will gather at the well known Knives and Forks Clubrooms, 522 Valencia St., near 16th. Time, 8:00 p. m.

Pictures of the Cal game in s-l-o-w motion will be unreeled, and a description of the play will be given by a member of the coaching staff. The Loyola film will be shown too, if we are able to get it.

This paragraph and the box at the head of the column will be the only notice sent to members—so remember.

Timely Topics—Applications for the Santa Clara game will be mailed this week. If you have changed your address recently let us know at once—please.

In checking the applications for Gael-Cal tickets we find many changes of address that are not listed on our records.

And now for a few "DON'TS."

Don't apply for seats on more than one Saint Mary's Club application. It won't be honored.

Don't use an Alumni application if you should receive one.

Don't give your Club application to a friend for him to apply for tickets thereon. Using the mails to get something to which one has no legal right is a practice that Uncle Sam does not approve.

And finally don't send money to the Club for tickets. We have none for sale—Mr. Bill Smith at the College will be glad to hear from you.

Sketch—His name . . . Charles J. Barry . . . President of Saint Mary's Club . . . Charter Member . . . 3 years Secretary and Treasurer . . . Atorney . . . with Judge Garrecht of United States Circuit Court of Appeals . . . former Mission High School boy . . . basketball star . . . Plays softball now with Stanford Parlor, N. S. G. W. . . . Loves to eat . . . Knows all the best places . . . But watches his weight . . . Takes furious workouts at the Olympic Club . . . then goes on a gastronomic binge . . . Is five feet nine inches tall . . . weighs 170 pounds . . . Has curly brown hair . . . and blue eyes . . Affable . . . Is a real fellow . . . liked by everybody.

Clubable — Member Bill Leiser calls the Cal game the "Big Hump" conteest, and adds that once over the top the Gaels usually go to town . . . well, we hope so . . . but whether they do or not . . . we've had our moment!

Happiest man in the stadium was Ownie Doherty, original afflictee of the "Berkeley bucks" and the second most nervous man in the stands . . . This column lays claim to the title of Jitterer No. 1 . . . Dr. John L. Murphy, of the Boston Murphys, collected a nice bet right outside tht stadium gate . . . another Murphy, this time E. Raymond "I suit 'em" Murphy poured it on to the boys with the Cal rooter's caps as they lolled on the frat house lawns on Bancroft Way . . . They took it gracefully enough, but then, didn't we last year?

Seated in Section H, Row 26, in sympathetic company, and rooting hard for the Gaels was Hollywood's Edmund Lowe. And when he had to leave shortly before the end of the game to avoid autograph hounds he walked backwards up the stairway to the exit, loathe to miss the finale as presented by Ned O'Laughlin and Jerry Dowd.

NOTICE OF MEETING

Thursday night, October 22, Knives and Forks Clubrooms, 522 Valencia Street, San Francisco, 8:00 p. m.

The Gaels do have a following in the movie colony . . . At the Loyola game in our section we saw Adolph Menjou and his trick hat . . . Frank McHugh . . . Pat O'Brien . . . Victor McLaglen . . . Bing Crosby . . . Maureen O'Sullivan . . . and yep! . . . Jean Harlow.

The Gael band was in slick marching form, and got a big hand from the crowd. And when they played "The Flying Trapeze" the Loyola cheer leaders picked up the beat, and the crowd on both sides of the Coliseum swayed in rhythm. Some sight, and swell showmanship, Mr. Joe McTigue .

Thanks to Bob Schmid for the applications of Frank H. Beck and Harry C. Happert . . . Bob rounds out the Schmid foursome in the Club of ex-pres Frank, Mark and Albert. The new men, Bob and Mark along with Bayard Deucher and Bill Cullen, are Lithographers with the Schmidt Lithograph Company . . . The Club is doing all right there!

Reminder: Write to Columbia and NBC broadcasting systems and request the Marquette game be sent to the Coast.

College Knights Are Organized For Year

Under the guidance of Jack Fissori, Grand Knight, the campus council of the Knights of Columbus have organized for the coming year. Assisting him as Deputy Grand Knight will be Joseph L. Alioto.

Officers have been elected to the following committees in the organization: 1. Victor Wilkiemeyer, chairman of the Catholic Activity Committee.

2. Brother Bede Edwards, chairman of the Council Program Committee.

3. Bernard Wills, chairman of the Insurance committee.

4. Joseph Alioto, chairman of the Publicity Committee.

5. Jack Fissori, chairman of the Membership Committee.

Of these five committees, Victor Wilkiemeyer, of the Catholic Activity Committee, has named his two assistants, namely, Robert Waters and Brother Bede Edwards.

Functions of the five committees are as follows: The Catholic Activity Committee is to concern itself with projects of Catholic Activity in the council and community, and to cooperate in Catholic Activity projects of the state jurisdiction and the Supreme Council.

The Council Program Committee will have the twofold job of helping to make the council's week-in-and-week-out life a more enjoyable experience for every member, and an experience from which the member may profit in personal growth and development.

Social activities, sports, cultural programs, civic and social welfare service, the welcome and reception of new and old members, these are the important matters with which the Program Committee will deal.

The Insurance Committee will act directly upon matters which affect the extension of the fraternal protection of the order.

The Publicity Committee will be asked to cooperate with the Supreme Office in working out a dignified program of public information about Columbianism local, national and international. The secular and Catholic press, radio and lecture program are the principal media through which the committee will work.

The Membership Committee will concern itself with the recruiting of new strength for the council, with preventing the Knights from lapsing in their memberships, and with the maintenance and expansion of council memberships to the point where its work will be most effective.

Everything points towards the most successful year in the history of the council and the officers are very much encouraged by the enthusiasm shown.

Alumni Notes

DIRESTOR'S MEETING

The Board of Directors held their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, October 6, at the Maison-Paul Grill, in San Francisco.

After much discussion of the Gael victory over the California Bears and several impromptu lectures on strategy delivered by the various "Monday morning coaches" the Board finally got around to the business of the evening.

Foremost in importance was the consideration of plans for another New Student Drive. The campaigns for new students which have already been held under the auspices of the alumni association have met with great success and, if enthusiasm counts for anything, the good work should be duplicated again this year. The committee which shall be in charge will be announced in the near future.

The Annual Dinner Dance came up again for discussion and, while a definite date was not decided upon, the consensus of opinion seems to favor the plan of holding it after the Temple game to be played in San Francisco on December 5. Dr. William E. O'Grady '28, a San Francisco physician and chairman of the annual event, is anxious to commence work and assures us that this year's affair will be one of the most successful ever held.

President Leo A. Cunningham spoke of the plans which have been made for the annual Alumni Retreat which will be held, as has been the custom in recent years, at El Retiro. Leo has been an active worker in the retreat movement for several years and was recently elected president of the National Layman's Retreat Association.

IT PAYS TO PAY DUES

Secretary Davis reports that he has received much favorable comment from the active members concerning the ticket situation at the California game. They were unanimous in their praise of the manner in which the problem was solved and all agreed that the seats were the best they had yet received. As the success of the Gaels on Saturday points to a sell-out attendance at the Santa Clara and Temple games it would behoove all those wishing good seats at these two contests to place themselves upon the list of active alumni by paying their dues immediately.

THANK YOU

The Secretary wishes to express his sincere thanks to Tom Gormley '18, of Sacramento and Everett Nevin '28 of Dublin, for answering his request by sending in lists of the alumni members living in their districts. His request to other members, especially those living out of town, is couched in biblical terms and reads, "Go thou and do likewise."

LATEST ARRIVAL

Louis Woerner, former instructor of languages at the Old Brickpile, and now a member of the teaching staff at the University of Oklahoma, announces the arrival of a nine pound daughter at the Woerner domicile.

OFFICER MURPHY

Jack Murphy '32, whose recent marriage was reported in this column, is now one of the "City's Finest" being appointed to the San Francisco Police Department on October 6. Jack, while an ardent alumni booster, states that he will show no partiality to members and wants it known that, for a while, at least, he will not be available to "square" traffic tickets.

Leo Walcom, graduate of the class of '33 and a pre-legal student while at Saint Mary's recently passed the state bar examinations, according to word received here. While a student Walcom was prominently associated with numerous student organizations, being literary editor of the 1932 Gael.

that Mrs. Bond, resident nurse, Mr. Butler, Comptroller and Professors Looseley, Miliken, Campbell, Silva, Bain and Brothers Cornelius, Alfred, Austin, Edward, Mathew, Lucian and Bernard all received degrees from the University of California. Fordham University is represented on the campus by Brother Edward and Brother Paul, while Brother Leo holds degrees from the University of Santa Clara and the Catholic University.

Confusion of Colors

With dismay it was remembered that at the Mass of the Holy Ghost celebrated last September three members of the faculty wore hoods of white and gold, official colors of Mills College. But upon delving into the records, it was found the identical combination also compose the papal colors of the Catholic University of America.

While the student body can always be counted upon to cheer for the Gaels on the gridiron many of the members of the faculty must at sometime each fall find themselves faced with the perplexing problem of which team to support.

of the University of California, who will then add them to the three poems of highest rank submitted by the undergraduates of the University of California, including the University of California at Los Angeles. These twenty-one poems are then to be submitted to some judge to be chosen by the Committee on Prizes of the University of California for final decision, the award to be made to the best one of the twenty-one.

3. The name of the prize winner, if there be such, will be included in the list of prize awards announced at Commencement time.

4. The chairman of the Committee on Prizes of the University of California will submit the conditions outlined above to the several universities and colleges named above, including the Vice President and Provost of the University of California at Los Angeles.

5. If in any year it is the opinion of the judge chosen by the Committee on Prizes that none of the poems submitted have sufficient merit to justify the award of the prize, the income for that year shall be added to the principal of the fund.

President Named To Regional Park Board

According to word received this week from the president's office, Brother Albert has been named a member of the executive committee of the new East Bay Regional Park which is to be opened next Sunday, October 18.

The directors of the park have acquired 2,100 acres of land in Wildcat Canyon, Round Top, Redwood Canyon and Lake Temescal areas. Many outstanding state and federal park officials are working on plans to improve the park further and at the present time roads, trails, and picnic grounds are being built.

Committee Named to Help Student Drive

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the college it was decided to appoint a committee to aid Brother Albert, president of the college, in handling the new student campaign.

The chairman of the board appointed Mr. Andrew Burke of San Francisco as chairman of the committee, and he will be assisted by Mr. C. Wesley Davis, Mr. Andrew Johnson, and Mr. Al Westlake of Sacramento.

The newly formed committee held its first meeting last night at the home of Mr. Burke, at which time Brother Albert outlined his plans for the student drive. The members will hold another meeting in the near future so as to perfect their ideas for meeting and addressing various student bodies.

During the months of November and December, Brother Albert will visit various schools throughout the state and make several contacts at that time. The student campaign will not, however, begin in earnest until the first of next year.

Econ Society Holds Year's Second Meet

Members of the Economics Association met for the second time this semester yesterday noon and discussed several important matters. President Dick Vail presided over the meeting.

The by-laws were revised to permit reinstatement of members who have ben suspended because of failure to make the honor roll two consecutive semesters.

Vail announced that Mr. Craig of the American Railway Express Co. would address the students here about the first of November.

Discussion of sending representatives to the annual meeting of the Institute of Pacific Relations conference was carried over until the next meeting.

Senior Sketches

By LAURENCE MANA

As glorious as Pindar and as mighty as Phedippides—the combination of perfect soldier and poet, and outstanding athlete—this is the story of Victor Strub, varsity end and poet of Moraga Quarterly fame. Vic is still another example of the true Saint Mary's Man—perfected in athletics and scholarship, maintaining a harmony to form the well-balanced and versatile man.

Vic Strub

Vic was the first and only one of our present generation of students to gain immortal fame by his poetic contribution to the Quarterly. So rarely have any student contributions been accepted, that this alone speaks highly of his scholastic and poetic talents. In fact, as a poet his sole campus rival is the one and only Frank Martin.

Star Footballer

As one of Slip's boys Vic has claim to undying fame among the 'greats" of Saint Mary's. Although handicapped by injuries up to now, there is a brilliant future ahead—and what a past! Who will ever forget the sophomore end who caught the touchdown pass in the Washington State game of two years ago to turn a miserable defeat into a glorious victory?

Vic's hectic career is marked by still another marvelous feature. He entered Saint Mary's without ever having played football, with a noticeable absence of meaningless scrapboks and clippings lauding high school achievements, and succeeded while many a scrapbook enthusiast bit the dust, disappeared into oblivion, never to be heard of again.

This year he was chosen as Treasurer of the Associated Students and President of the Block S. M. Society — signal honors bestowed by student and athlete alike. His constant appearance on the honor roll has brought him membership in the Economics Honor Society. He starred in his freshman and soph years as a member of the Gael cage teams.

After his graduation from Roosevelt Hi in Oakland where he was oustanding in track and basketball and before his entrance in Saint Mary's he worked as an airplane mechanic for two years at the Oakland Airport.

Playground Director

Now with days rapidly spinning away—graduation ever approaching—Vic need have no fear of the future, for he has passed a Civil Service Ex and is all set for a position as Athletic Director of an Oakland playground.

It would not be amiss to call Vic the twentieth century edition of Pindar and Phedippides for his fame at Saint Mary's will be as long-lived as that of the Greeks, his talents run along the same line. Who could imagine Pindar playing football?

The Broncos have scored 8 touchdowns so far this season but no one back on the squad has scored more than one touchdown.

INFIRMARY BUSY IN JANUARY MRS. BOND REVEALS

Spring Semester Brings Out Many Poison Oak Customers

of mumps kept Mrs. Bond busy for several weeks. This was the most serious of any attacks of illness on the campus, but because of caution exercised, and the proper steps being taken, it never reached the danger stage.

Also in that year (a busy one for Mrs. Bond) there were several light cases of flu just before the Fordham game. Ten students were cared for at that time, with no serious complications resulting.

January Worst Month

January, it was further pointed out, is the worst month, with colds, coughs, and various other cold-weather ailments keeping the infirmary on the go. In the spring, there are the usual number of "regular" customers suffering from poison oak, but other than these minor afflictions, no illnesses are in evidence.

And so leaving Mrs. Bond with a pile of records and statistics piled around her, the correspondent took his leave, with nothing but respect for the infirmary and its directress.

Thanks, Loyola

FOR SHEER spirit, hospitality, magnanimity and what have you, one can certainly derive an excellent lesson from last week's Gael Hosts, the roaring Lions from Loyola University. Never have the Gaels and their rooters been accorded such a warm welcome, such a friendly spirit of competition, such prolific acclaimation after the game ended. Never before have Gael rooters seen such a fine spirit as was displayed by our southern friends at the pre-game rally, and more especially at the game itself. Never once did that Lion rooting section let down. No six, twelve or nineteen points could dim their enthusiasm for their cause. Although badly behind at the beginning of the second half, they persevered — and their team delivered for them.

Then too, the wonderful spirit of hospitality as was demonstrated during the half when a great tribute was paid their northern guests is something that those attending the game will not soon forget—and is typical of the kind of spirit that should exist when two Catholic institutions meet on the gridiron. The spirit in which the defeat was accepted could not help but be marked. Very sportsmanlike, even in defeat, should easily rank the Lions as a future opponent to be both feared and admired. Congratulations, then Loyola, for having the spirit that can be appreciated in any student group!

A California Cardinalate!

NEWS REPORTS of the past week indicate the possibility of a Cardinalate being established on the Pacific Coast by order of Our Holy Father, Pope Pius XI. Inasmuch as the Pacific Coast represents one of the largest Catholic sections in the United States, and is removed some 2000 miles from the nearest Cardinalate—that of Cardinal Mundelin in Chicago—it seems reasonable to expect definite action on the matter by Vatican officials in the near future. It has been rumored that Pope Pius XI has already decided in favor of the Cardinalate and will provide shortly for the appointment of a new Church official to the College of Cardinals. Although it will probably be several years before the Cardinalate is definitely established, indications point to a favorable decision on the matter.

It is expected that the new Cardinalate will be located in the Archdiocese of San Francisco. To accord with this design, the Holy Father decreed recently that Bishop John Cantwell be made Archbishop-elect of the new Archdiocese of Los Angeles. In addition, a new diocese was erected in San Diego to govern Catholics in that province of the state. It remains now only to make the necessary changes and enlargements in the local Archdiocesan duties before the Cardinalate can become an accepted fact.

On To Fordham

SUNDAY night the football team leaves on its annual eastern trip, this time to play to hitherto undefeated teams, Fordham and Marquette. Some thirty-five players will make the trip, accompanied by coaches, managers and a traveling rooting section of some 240 ardent Saint Mary's fans. This contingent comprises the largest nation-wide football excursion ever to be attempted—a real tribute to the large following attracted to Saint Mary's colors by the great play of our Gaels.

This year, more than any time in the past, there is great significance in Saint Mary's sortie to the football playing fields of the East. Our team is undefeated! It stands in fact an excellent chance of remaining undefeated throughout the season. It has been recognized along with our familiar rival, Santa Clara, as being one of the best, if not the best team on the coast. Therefore, in invading the Polo Grounds in New York and Soldier's Field in Chicago, it is accepted as a representative grid team of the Pacific Coast and on its showing will be judged the relative merits of Pacific Coast football.

It now rests with the team to show the East and Middle West just why we on the Pacific Coast think Saint Mary's is so good. Certainly it is within the power of the Gaels to come back from their excursion undefeated—to complete the season, perhaps, without tasting defeat. Every man at Saint Mary's is pulling for just such a successful season. More than anyone else, we want the Gaels to complete their schedule without a blemish so that a just claim for National Championship honors may be made. At any rate, win, lose, or tie, the Saint Mary's student body stands as a unit behind the team, praying for its continued success. Have a good time on your trip, boys, and don't forget to come back with victories over Fordham and Marquette!

WITHOUT books, God is silent, justice dormant, natural science at a stand, philosophy lame, letters dumb, and all things involved in Cimmerian darkness.

—BARTHOLIN.

Attend The Debates

INSPIRING this week was the enthusiastic turnout given the initial forensic contest of the season when the varsity argued with the women from the University of California. More significant was it when one considers that the overflow attendance was there in spite of a Saint Mary's radio program and in spite of examinations.

Informal discussions as was this one, are the mode in the lounge when guests are entertained, but essentially necessary for informality is an audience, an enthusiastic and responsive audience.

The best reward a debater can be given for his weeks of arduous preparation for a debate is acclaimation from the audience. Not so much so in the form of back-slapping after it is over, but in the form of enthusiastic response on the part of those attending. No points can be forcefully substantiated, no joke no matter how foul or good can go over when the debaters face ten or twelve stone-faces. Therefore the Collegian urges that students attend the debates arranged for the student body as the did last Tuesday evening. Not only will the audience benefit from an intellectual entertaining evening, but debaters will take more interest in their work and produce debates that will be a distinct tribute to Saint Mary's.

OUTLOOKS & INSIGHTS

By BROTHER LEO

BELLS OF THE PAST

Were it our custom to award orchids for significant and gracious deeds we should certainly bestow a whole sheaf of orchids upon the Federal Art Project and the Principal and Faculty of Mission High School, San Francisco; for out there, on the evening of October 9, was unveiled with becoming ceremonies a mural depicting the founding of the Mission Dolores and commemorating the 160th anniversary of its establishment.

Brother Leo

The mural in the San Francisco high school will serve to remind pupils and teachers of one important link in the chain which we call the European Tradition of Culture. It is a chain, as W. A. S. Douglas says in his recent novel, "Long John Murray," "with rust on it here and there and blood over some of the links but with other parts of it shining and clear." No link of the chain of civilization shines brighter and clearer than the Spanish missionary endeavor in California.

Three years ago the Saint Mary's College Council of the Knights of Columbus unveiled on the parvis of our chapel a plaque commemorating Father Junipero Serra, founder of many missions, including Dolores. Those two memorials, though miles divide, form a bond between Saint Mary's and Mission High School.

STROPPING THE RAZOR

The late William James of Harvard had a pet bit of advice he never wearied of giving to his students —young men precisely like the young men who deign to glance at this page. Here is what he told them:

"Keep the faculty of effort alive in you by a little gratuitous exercise every day. That is, be systematically ascetic or heroic in little unnecessary points; do every day or two something for no other reason than that you would rather not do it, so that when the hour of dire need draws nigh it may find you not unnerved and untrained to stand the test . . . "

That is getting down to fundamentals. Superficial observers and shallow thinkers explain heroes and villains too easiy. They say saints and scoundrels become such suddenly, overnight. They don't—not any more than a house infested with termites falls to ruin overnight or a peach tree bursts into blossoms overnight.

Longfellow was right if a bit prosaic: Things are not what they seem. If we strop the razor of character it will be ready to give good service; if we neglect to strop it, it will lose its cutting edge.

THE AUDIENCE IS KING

The political campaign now raging has its bright side; it brings out now and then journalistic comments reaching a bit beneath the surface of life. This paragraph, for instance clipped from an Eastern monthly, deserves an immortality of its own:

"After his collapse in Cleveland, Father Coughlin said that during the dizzy spell the audience had been a blur for ten minutes. This was a grave blunder on his part. Leaving aside the fact that calling the audience a blur was a distinct anticlimax after what he had called the President, it was the worst kind of political strategy. A politician cannot call his audience a blur, even with a ten-minute qualifying clause. Audiences are sensitive and notoriously quick to take umbrage. You can call the President anything you like, because he is fair game, but an audience is a part of the People, commonly referred to by politicians as the Great and Sovereign People of This Glorious Land of Ours, and you cannot call the G. and S. P. of T. G. L. of O. a blur and get away with it. The audience may be a blur; Father Coughlin's audience at Cleveland undoubtedly was a blur, from all accounts, but he shoud have kept his mouth shut about that. You never hear Franklin Rosevelt calling the People a blur. He calls them My Friends."

The Bystander

By FRANK MARTIN

—TRADITION—

Tradition affords a wonderful background in life, particularly if it is based on something substantial and ennobling. The great universities of the Middle Ages which were founded by scholarly religious men of Rome, Paris, London and other Catholic centers of culture; which thrived and prospered under the fostering protection of Mother Church, and reached their highest cultural peaks at a time when Catholicism was exercising the greatest influence on the scholars of the world: afford us examples of institutions of learning wherein a wealth of tradition—spiritual, intellectual and physical—was a welcome bequest to university students.

Oxford and Cambridge left an aura of tradition on their graduates, although in time a good portion of the spiritual significance of this tradition diminished as the characters of the universities changed. Still, considering even this vital religious change, contrast them with the countless institutions which hold up ivy cloaked walls and moss covered arches as the only requisites for tradition, and note the inconsequential character of what modern romanticists revere as "tradition."

Among men, too, there is unfortunately a pronounced tendency to hold up as ideals anything of an intellectual or physical nature which is derived from the so-called traditions and customs of the past. Such men are less inclined to think for themselves than to accept the standards of revered "tradition." What the world needs in such instances is less retrospection and more introspection!

The man who, living in an active present, is cognizant of the glories of the past and perhaps, too, of his own glorious participation in the achievements of that past, and yet does not dwell too extensively in the things of retrospection alone; the man who, looking towards the veiled curtain of the future, permits himself to dream a little and hazard opinions as to the fortunes that awaits him, and yet does not relinquish his individualism — his power to act—under the Lotus spell of dream narcotics; the man who, being faced with the memory of his predecessors' attainments, and similarly with the knowldge that the future will almost certainly effect even greater achievements, is yet not content to rest on the laurels of other men, but goes forth to attain his own niche in the Hall of Fame: that is the man we bow to as Lord of his race! On him and his kind rests the destiny of humanity!

DETERMINATION

A student in an eastern college had the following passage incorporated in an essay: "Magna Charta was a soldier in the Revolutionary War who was seriously wounded. His wife, hearing of the incident, immediately went to him, picked up his gun, took his place in the battle and said, 'Shoot if you must, this old gray head, but I will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer'."

FOLIAGE

Eight Alfred University professors agreed last spring to raise sideburns, whiskers, goatees, "and divers kindred tonsorial accoutrements" to give the university's centennial celebration the air of a century ago. Some profs give that impression without the sideburns or goatees.

WANNA HIRE A DUCK?

Donald Duck, a graduate of the University of Arizona, has enrolled in the Indiana University School of Law. —Which goes to prove that there are some quack lawyers. Among the other famous names in the enrollment list were: two Robert Taylors; two Joe E. Browns; and one Ben Eastman. What's in a name, eh?

TREE-HE!

From the Panther Cat:
I think that I shall never see
Another man as nice as he.
Oh, if his lips on mine were pressed
And he would clasp me to his breast
To feel his cheek against my cheek
And hear him whisper words so sweet—
Such men are made for movies, gee!
While only saps are made for me.

FIRING AMBITION

Guy Justin, a student of the College of St. Vaast in France, wished to destroy a teacher's notebook containing his name for disorderly conruct, so he burned down the college building—at a loss of about $125,000.

HOME AGAIN!

A story in the Spring Hill, Alabama, college journal tells about an ambitious student who, deciding to do some necessary work over a weekend holiday, packed some books under his arm and went home. When his mater saw him stagger up the front steps under the unusual load she said, "What's the matter, son? Did they throw you out of school?"

SUICIDE

The Loyolan gives us some facts of general interest. Of all the civilized countries, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Germany, and Japan show the highest suicide rates. The United States holds a middle place, while the Irish Free State has the lowest. I think that the Irish have the lowest rate because their sense of humor is so high.

PELTS & PESTS

Harvard's Crimson, undergraduate rag, printed the following story in its original form—with the proviso that all true Harvard men reverse the situation. Here it is: A Yale man rushed in to consult President Angell. "I'm in trouble," he gasped. "Why bother me?" queried the exec. "It's a matter of life or death," persisted the worried collegian. "What's that to me?" quipped the aforementioned exec. Then the Yale man blurted out his bursting heart, "Mr. President, I just ran over a Harvard man and killed him." "Well, well," beamed the prexy, "why didn't you say so? Go over to the Pursar's office and collect your bounty."

LEAN

The story is going the rounds that a certain heavy female in an eastern college was asked by her history prof, to tell what made the Tower of Pisa lean. Replied the corpulent one, "I don't know, prof, or I'd take some myself."
